Immigration Rights and Reform: Prospects, Promises and Pitfalls in the Courts and Congress

As the likelihood of major federal immigration reform fades, states and localities continue to enact a wide range of laws targeting immigrants. Most of these measures, including Arizona's notorious SB1070, are subject to legal challenges, and the Supreme Court has granted certiorari to decide the constitutionality of an earlier Arizona statute regulating immigrant employment. The speaker is directly involved in most of these court challenges and in the larger policy debates. He addresses the current legal and legislative landscape as well as other immigrants' rights issues.

Lucas Guttentag, American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) Immigrants' Rights Project, San Francisco, CA; and Robina Foundation Distinguished Senior Fellow, Yale Law School, New Haven, CT
