8:45 a.m. 1.00 hr

Student Data Privacy:
The National Conversation

Join the Director of NSBA's Council of School Attorneys for an update on the current state of federal law and guidance on student data privacy. Look at proposed (or passed) legislation amending key education statutes, including the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, as well as stand-alone bills addressing vendor conduct. Learn how Texas initiatives, including SB 507 on video cameras in the classroom, fit into national trends, and what you might expect from federal policy-makers in the near future.

Sonja Trainor, Director, Council of School Attorneys,
National School Boards Association,
Alexandria, VA

9:45 a.m. .50 hr

Guns in Schools and Chapter 37 Changes

A look at the challenging state and federal regulations related to firearms on school district property, prohibited weapons, and other changes to student discipline. Do gun-free school zones truly exist with the advent of open carry? What is the impact for K-12 students attending classes on college campuses? Is a pocketknife a prohibited weapon?

The Other Tinker Test:
Analyzing the Conflict between Student Free
Speech Rights and a School's Obligation to Maintain a Safe and Secure Environment

Schools trying to deal with twenty-first century mandates to adopt anti-discrimination and anti-bullying measures, accommodate the surge of LGBTQ students, and roll with the ever-changing Establishment Clause landscape are increasingly finding themselves the targets of student free speech "I can say what I wanna say" lawsuits. Explore the legal framework for analyzing the dichotomy between private student speech and school government speech to determine when schools seeking to promote the greater good can say, "No, you can't."

What Schools Can Do, aside from the Obvious, to Protect Themselves from Retaliation Claims

Texas takes a shotgun approach to prohibiting retaliation in the workplace, with several different statutes giving rise to distinct causes of action based on the nature of the protected activity. There are also several federal laws prohibiting retaliation of various sorts. Review the various types of protected activity and prohibited retaliation and explore how these claims proceed through the various administrative systems, like the EEOC, that are often a first stop before a lawsuit is filed. Most importantly, learn best employment practices that every school should use and that will help establish a defense to these claims before you even know you need one.

12:50 p.m. .50 hr

The Intersection of Family Law and School Law

Does Grandpa have any rights to the child? Can Mom's new girlfriend attend the parent-teacher conference? Can Dad eat lunch with the child on his non-possession days? Who gets to make the educational decisions for the child? How do you advise your administrators when the parents don't agree to any of this? What is your reaction as a lawyer when your administrators are subpoenaed to a family law hearing? Learn responses to these and other gray-area questions where family law and school law collide.

Kevin F. Lungwitz, The Lungwitz Law Firm, P.C., Austin, TX

1:20 p.m. .50 hr

Overview of the New Truancy Law

New laws decriminalize truancy, but continue to hold students accountable through a new system of truancy courts. Review the new law and discover a wealth of resources aimed at implementing the new system.

REASONS TO ATTEND SCHOOL LAW

UT Law's 31st Annual School Law Conference is the definitive program for school administrators, school board members, education professionals and the legal counsel who represent them. Presentations offer in-depth, practical discussion of the legal and regulatory issues affecting schools and school districts and provide a must-have set of materials and resources.

- Join the Director of NSBA's Council of School Attorneys, Sonja Trainor, for an update on the current state of federal law and guidance on student data privacy.
- Explore the challenging state and federal regulations related to firearms on school district property, prohibited weapons and other changes to student discipline.
- Learn what is expected of the school district by OCR and the current legal standards imposed by the courts in cases where students are bullied.
- Analyze the conflict between student free speech rights and a school's obligation to maintain a safe and secure environment
- Review new federal procurement regulations (EDGAR), the new state conflict of interest disclosure requirements and their respective impacts on school district procurement and purchasing practices, including a comparison of the federal and state law requirements.
- Review the various types of protected activity and prohibited retaliation and explore how these claims proceed through the various administrative systems, like the EEOC. Learn best employment practices that every school should use that will help establish a defense to these claims before you need one.
- Learn responses to difficult questions regarding the intersection of family law and school law
