Global LNG Update 2017

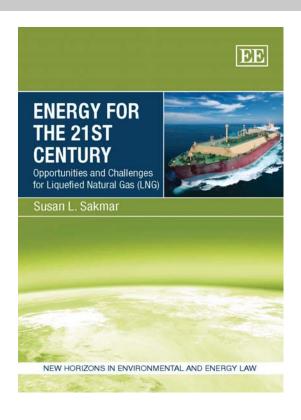

Susan L. Sakmar Visiting Assistant Law Professor University of Houston Law Center

UT Gas & Power Institute Oct. 5-6, 2017 Houston, Texas

Introduction

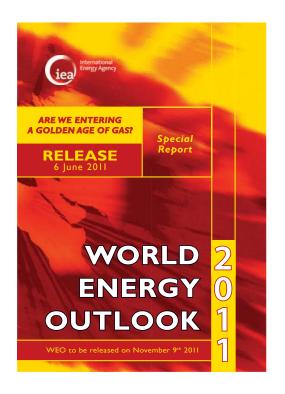

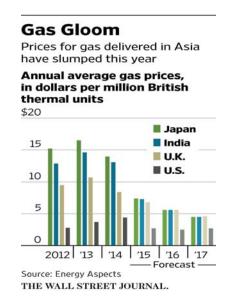

- LNG has been the fastest growing segment of the energy business.
- Policy makers, regulators, and market participants need to better understand market dynamics.
- The global gas market is challenging and dynamic and almost everyone gets it wrong!

- ➤ LNG trade reached 244.8 MT in 2015, up 4.7 MT from 2014 and the largest year ever for LNG trade.
- Major expansion of LNG supply through 2020 means LNG can further increase market share.
- New markets in Egypt, Jordan, Pakistan and Poland benefit from near record-low prices.
- Global trade in LNG could exceed $120B, making LNG the second most valuable commodity after oil! (Goldman Sachs 2015)

Key Trends:

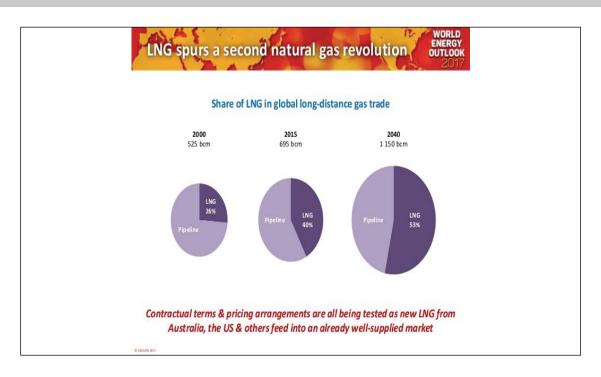

- 1. U.S. LNG exports drive change.
- 2. New and old buyers drive change in contract terms.
- 3. New pricing models are emerging

Outlook: A more responsive, competitive LNG trading system.
