SEARCH AND SEIZURE

SIMS, PD-0941-17

Do violations of the Federal Stored Communication Act and TEX. CODE CRIM. PROC. art. 18.21 require suppression of evidence pertaining to the warrantless pinging of a cellphone 38.23?

Does a person have a legitimate expectation of privacy in real-time data-tracking, regardless of whether it is a private or public location, such that real-time, tracking was illegally seized under the Fourth Amendment and TEX. CODE CRIM. PROC. art. 38.23?

HOLDER,
PD-1296-16

Whether the State's petition for 20 days of cell phone records set forth "specific and articulable facts" under the Federal Stored Communications Act.

The defendant has the initial burden of production to prove a violation on a pretrial motion to suppress.

Is the burden the same during trial when the State is the proponent of evidence?

WHY YOUR TEACHERS SHOULDN'T HAVE

CELL PHONES

Was the search of substitute teacher Ruiz's cell-phone for "up-skirt" photos of students by the school principal illegal—breach of computer security—so as to implicate Article 38.23's exclusionary rule?
