² We make no attempt to be thorough respecting district court decisions, although we have included some for their information value. "A decision by a federal district judge is not binding precedent in either a different judicial district, the same judicial district, or even upon the same judge in a different case." 18 MOORE'S FEDERAL PRACTICE § 134.02[1][d], p. 138-24.1 (3d ed. 2007). II. THE WORK OF THE SUPREME COURT

Although the Supreme Court did not hand down any landmark maritime decisions last year, it nevertheless announced some nonmaritime decisions that will be important to maritime lawyers. And important maritime issues are in the pipeline.

A. Nonmaritime Decision: Administrative Law Judges

Claims by injured workers under the Longshore & Harbor Workers' Compensation Act (LHWCA), 33 U.S.C. § 901, et. seq., are tried at "formal hearings" before federal administrative law judges (ALJs).³ The LHWCA provides that ALJs are to be appointed by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL).⁴ They work within the DOL's U.S. Office of Administrative Law Judges. The DOL has the third largest ALJ office in the federal government, "with some 41 judges and 130 staff in eight district offices located across the United States. . . ."⁵ The bulk of the DOL ALJs' workload is hearing claims brought under the Black Lung Act and the LHWCA and its extensions.⁶

The validity of those ALJs' decisions was recently put in jeopardy. The Supreme Court in *Lucia v. Securities and Exchange Commission*⁷ decided that an ALJ for the SEC was not validly appointed as required by the Appointments Clause of the Constitution.⁸

⁸ U.S. CONST. art. II, § 2, cl. 2. The Lucia case has arisen in Special Counsel Robert Mueller's investigation by a witness resisting a subpoena who claimed Mr. Mueller's appointment was unconstitutional; the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia rejected that challenge. In re Grand Jury Investigation, 2018 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 134601 at *301 (D.D.C. August 8, 2018) (appeal filed August 14, 2018).

Connecticut, 564 U.S. 410, 428 (2011) ("[F]ederal district judges, sitting as sole adjudicators, lack authority to render precedential decisions binding other judges, even members of the same court.").

³ 33 U.S.C. § 919(d) ("... any hearing held under this Act shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of [5 U.S.C. § 554]. Any such hearing shall be conducted by a [an] administrative law judge qualified under section 3105 of that title [5 U.S.C. § 3105]. All powers, duties, and responsibilities vested by this Act, on the date of enactment of the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act Amendments of 1972 [enacted Oct. 27, 1972], in the deputy commissioners with respect to such hearings shall be vested in such administrative law judges.") (emphasis added).
