
Better Grantmaking: Balancing Risk and Equity

— Kathleen Flynn, New Venture Fund —
Megan Jellinek, Chan Zuckerberg Initiative

Presented at the 37th Annual Nonprofit Organizations Institute
Jan 23, 2020 - Austin, TX

Presentation Highlights

Risk -- what it is and why we care

Equity -- what it is in the grantmaking context and why we care

Balancing Risk and Equity in Grantmaking

- Application Process
 - Application Review and Due Diligence
 - Grant Agreements
 - Reporting
 - Capacity Building and Technical Assistance
-

What is Risk?

Risk is the likelihood that an event will occur that will cause an undesirable effect.

- Open Road Alliance

Types of Risk

- Financial
- Legal or compliance
- Safety and security
- Reputational

What is the actual risk?

What is your organization's risk tolerance?

What is Equity in Grantmaking?

Using grantmaking and our privilege as funders to address historic and systemic inequities

AND

Developing grantmaking processes that lower barriers to accessing funds, particularly for grassroots and other organizations serving communities outside of traditional spheres of power

Balancing Risk and Equity in Grantmaking

Risk assessment and mitigation

and

implementing an equity approach to grantmaking do not have to be mutually exclusive.

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Better Grantmaking: Balancing Risk and Equity

Also available as part of the eCourse

2020 Nonprofit Organizations eConference

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 37th Annual Nonprofit Organizations Institute session

"Better Grantmaking: Balancing Risk and Equity "