ARTICLE 64.01

MOTION FOR FORENSIC DNA TESTING OF EVIDENCE

- Your motion should include:
  - A sworn allegation that evidence exists
  - is in the possession of the State, and
  - there's a reasonable likelihood that the evidence contains "biological material."
- You should also include an affidavit from the convicted person, swearing to what is basically in the motion itself.

ARTICLE 64.01

MOTION FOR FORENSIC DNA TESTING OF EVIDENCE

- This evidence can be something that was
  - not previously tested,
  - something that was previously tested but there are newer testing techniques available, or
  - something tested at a lab that has now been found to be engaged in faulty testing practices at the time of the original testing.

ARTICLE 64.01

"BIOLOGICAL MATERIAL"

- An item that is in possession of the State and that contains:
  - Blood, semen, hair, saliva, skin tissue or cells, fingernail scrapings, bone, bodily fluids, or other identifiable biological evidence that may be suitable for forensic DNA testing.
  - This includes the contents of a sexual assault evidence collection kit.
- Items within this definition are now defined as biological material per se.
- The movant must still show reasonable likelihood of biological material in the case of other items not specifically listed, like clothing.

ARTICLE 64.02

NOTICE TO THE STATE

- Article 64.02 requires that the convicting court shall, on receipt of the motion, provide a copy to the attorney representing the State.
- The attorney for the State must then take one of the following actions in response no later than the 60th day after the date the motion is served:
  - 1) deliver the evidence to the court, along with a description of the condition of the evidence;
or
  - 2) explain in writing to the court why the State cannot deliver the evidence to the court.
