

1

The Players

- Lender / Administrative Agent / Servicer
- Borrower / Property Manager
- Lockbox Bank
- Cash Management Bank (Lender/Servicer)
- Don't forget the tenants!

2

The Accounts

- Restricted/Lockbox Account – held at Lockbox Bank
- Cash Management Account – held at Lender/Servicer
 - Reserve subaccounts (taxes/insurance, debt service, TI/LC, replacement, operating expense, capital improvement, etc.)
 - Remainder/Excess cash subaccount
- Operating Account – Borrower's operating account held at its bank of choice

The Documents

- Loan Agreement
- Cash Management Agreement
- Lockbox Agreement / Restricted Account Agreement / Deposit Account Control Agreement
- Tenant direction letters

Terminology

- “Hard” Cash Management – references a regime where funds flow automatically from Lockbox Account into the Cash Management account without prior need of a triggering event
- “Soft” Cash Management – funds flow from the Lockbox Account to Borrower’s Operating Account until the occurrence of a triggering event
- “Springing” Cash Management – in its truest sense, an obligation of Borrower to enter into a cash management regime upon a triggering event, such as Event of Default ... good luck with that. More frequently, describes a dormant Lockbox Account that is not utilized until a triggering event has occurred

Don’t trust anyone’s use of these terms ... they are universally confused/misused. Read the term sheet.

Terminology (cont’d)

- Lockbox – properly used, this references a post office box where checks are mailed or a clearing account where wires are received directly from tenants (not workable in self-storage, multifamily, or mobile home “communities”)
- Waterfall – a series of subaccounts that are sequentially “filled” with cash flow (typically monthly), “flowing” from the most crucial subaccount to the least, typically ending with either a collateral “cash trap” account or disbursement of the remainder to the Borrower’s operating account
