

Office Sector - Demand, Density and Flex Space Systemic Change or a Return to Yesterday?

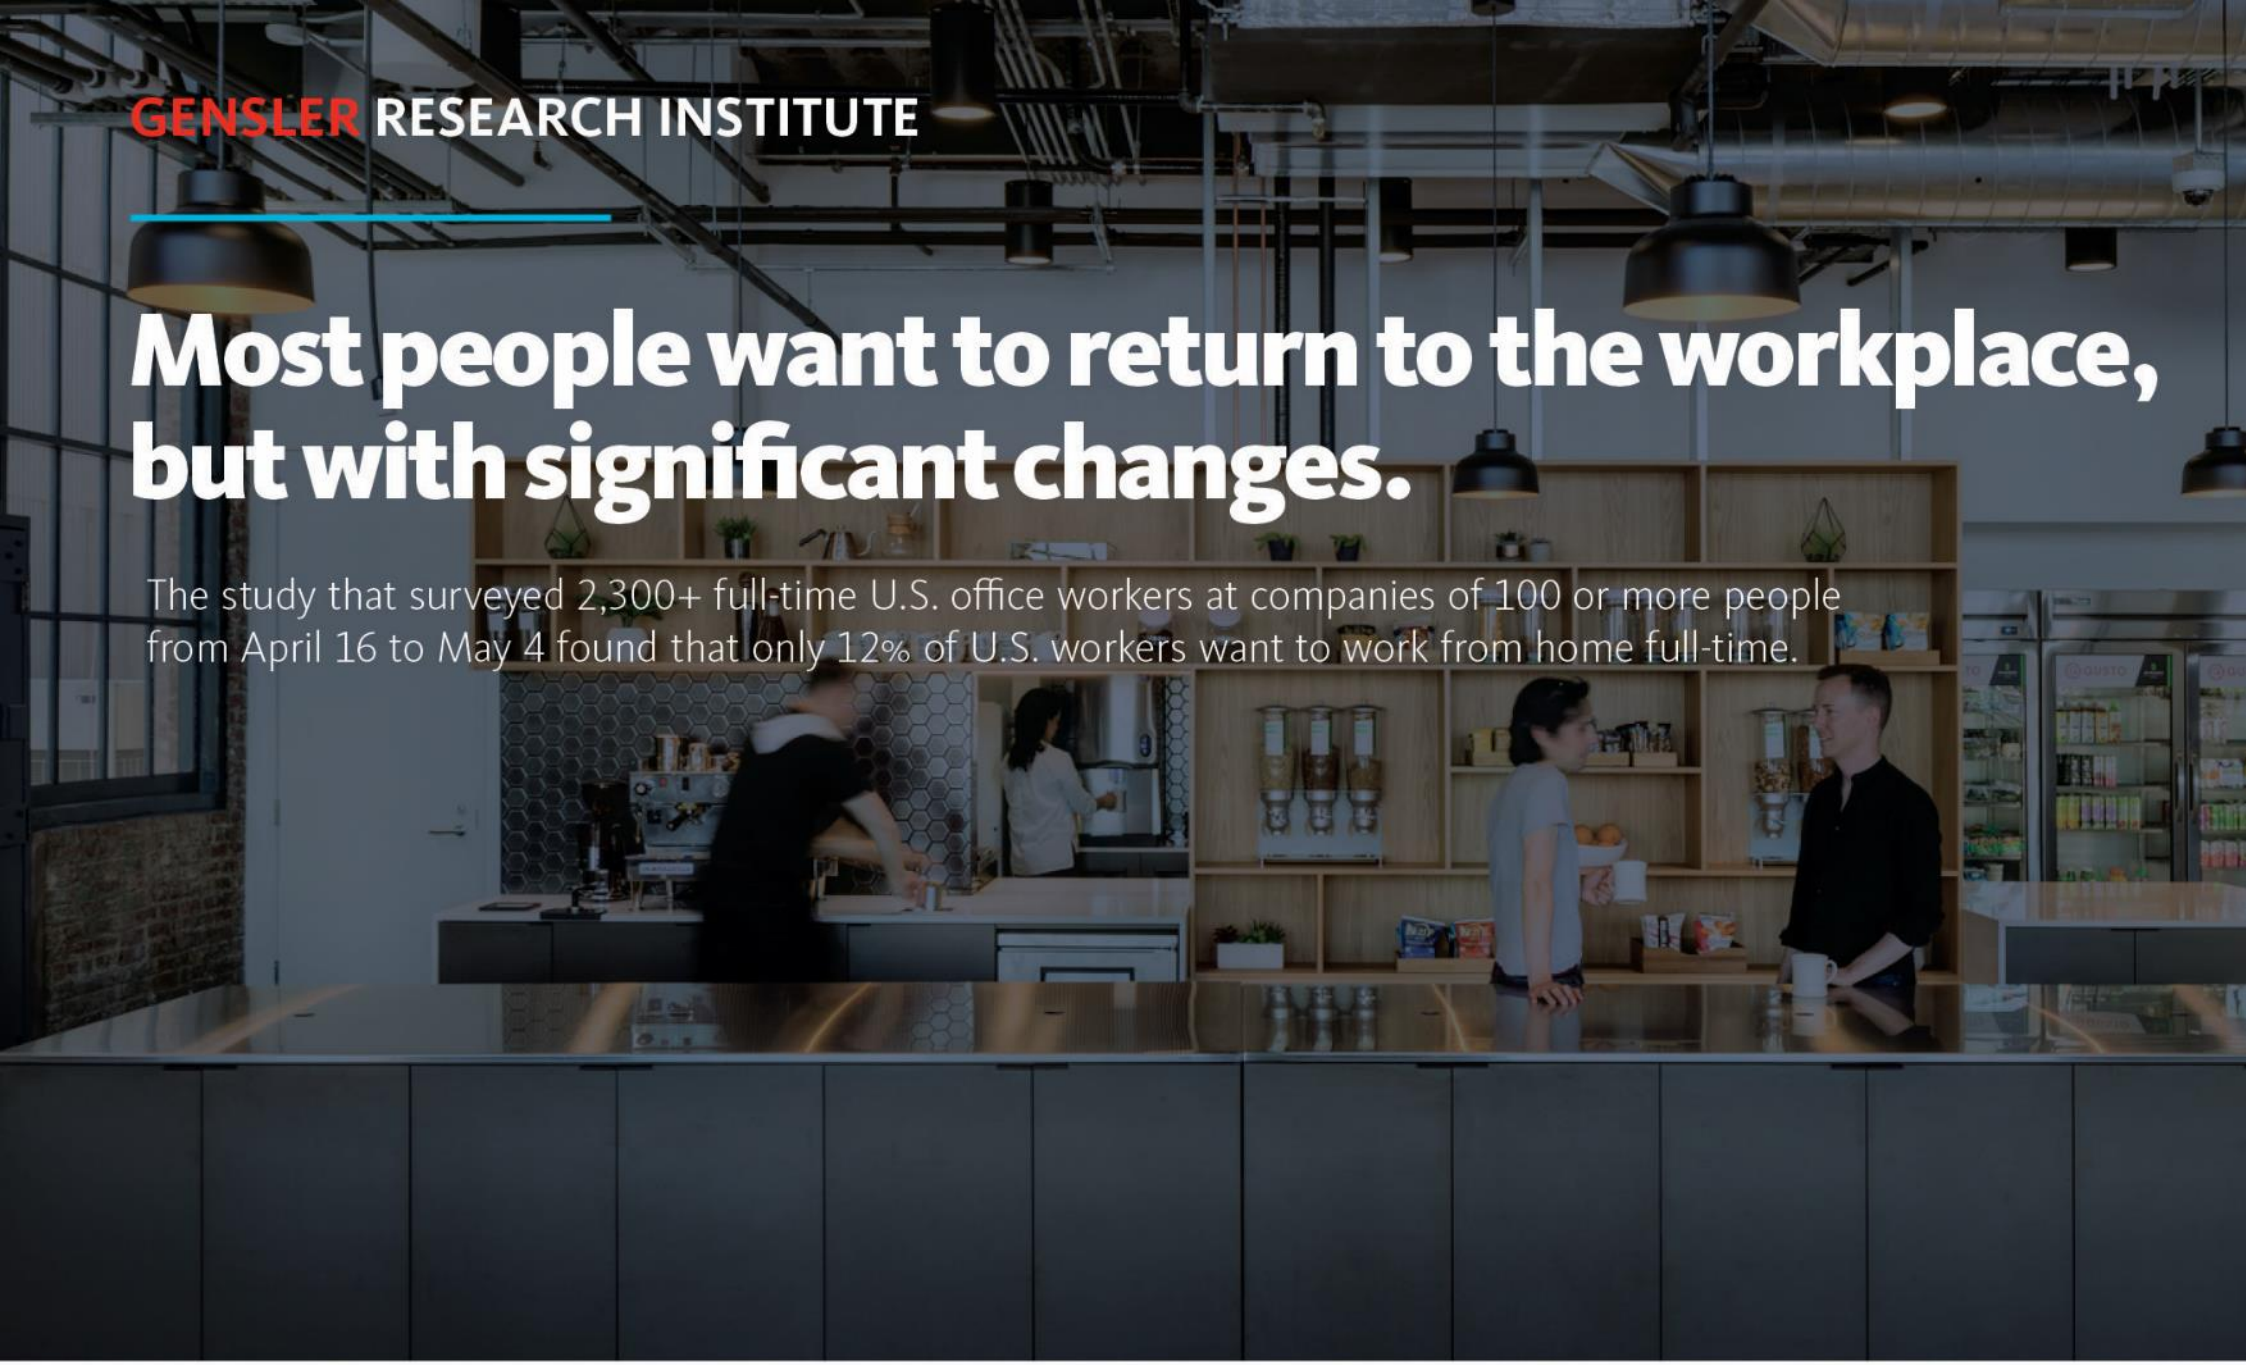

UT LAW: 2020 BERNARD O. DOW LEASING INSTITUTE

GENSLER RESEARCH INSTITUTE

The workplace revolution has accelerated far more dramatically because of the health, social, and economic upheavals we're currently experiencing.

When we return to the office, what will the new experience be? How will it support our new ways of working?

GENSLER RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Most people want to return to the workplace, but with significant changes.

The study that surveyed 2,300+ full-time U.S. office workers at companies of 100 or more people from April 16 to May 4 found that only 12% of U.S. workers want to work from home full-time.

UT LAW CLE THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS TEXASLAW

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary (utcle.org/elibrary)

Title search: Office Sector - Demand, Density and Flex Space - Systemic Change or a Return to Yesterday?

Also available as part of the eCourse
The Commercial Leasing Industry Re-Imagined

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 2020 Bernard O. Dow Leasing Institute session
"Office Sector - Demand, Density and Flex Space - Systemic Change or a Return to Yesterday?"