

S Corporations: Opportunities & Pitfalls

Christi Mondrik, CPA, Esq.
Board Certified – Tax Law

December 2, 2015
UT-CLE Taxation Conference

Mondrik & Associates

Prerequisites

- ⦿ Domestic
- ⦿ ≤ 100 shareholders
- ⦿ Allowable shareholders
 - Individuals, certain trusts, estates
 - Not partnerships, corporations or NRAs
- ⦿ One class of stock
- ⦿ No ineligible corporations
 - Financial institutions, insurance companies, domestic international sales organizations

Mondrik & Associates

Number of Shareholders

- ◎ Shareholder = Members of a Family
 - Husband and wife (and their estates)
 - Family members (and their estates)
 - Common ancestor
 - Spouse or former spouse
 - Up to 6 generations removed
 - Legally adopted children
 - Eligible foster children
 - Former spouses and their family members

Mondrik & Associates

“Individuals” Only

- ◎ But not just “people”
- ◎ IRC Sec. 1361(b)(1)(B)
 - Individual’s estate
 - Title 11 bankruptcy estate
- ◎ IRC Sec. 1361(c)(2)
 - Certain domestic trusts
- ◎ IRC Sec. 1361(c)(6)
 - Certain exempt organizations

Mondrik & Associates

Pitfalls in Ownership

- ⦿ No nonresident aliens
- ⦿ E.g. US shareholder's spouse marries a nonresident alien in a community property interest
- ⦿ Potential solution: Pre-nuptial separation of property agreement

Mondrik & Associates

One Class of Stock

- ⦿ Pitfall: S corp with common stock adding preferred stock could lose eligibility
- ⦿ Opportunity: IRS considers only outstanding stock – authorized but unissued Treasury stock may not default the election

Mondrik & Associates

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: S Corporations: Opportunities & Pitfalls

Also available as part of the eCourse

S Corporation Opportunities and Pitfalls

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 63rd Annual Taxation Conference session

"S Corporation Opportunities and Pitfalls"