

Temporary Injunctions

Fight at the TI Corral

Presented by Mark Temple, Partner at Reed Smith LLP

What is a Temporary Injunction (TI)?

- Defined
- Purpose

Temporary Injunction v. Temporary Restraining Order (TRO)

- Defined
- Purpose

What Must Be Plead

- To obtain a TI, the applicant must plead a _____ against the defendant and show both:
 - A _____ on that cause of action; and
 - A _____ injury in the interim.

Proving The Probable Right To Recovery

- To prove a probable right to recovery for purposes of a TI, the applicant must present evidence to sustain the pleaded cause of action.
- Examples:

Irreparable Injury

- What is it?
- What does timing have to do with irreparable harm?
- Why show damages of continued breach?

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Temporary Injunctions: Fight at the TI Corral

Also available as part of the eCourse

Answer Bar: Going to Trial on an Employment Law Case

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 2016 Essential Non-Compete and Trade Secret Law: A Practical Guide to Talent
Management session
"Fight at the TI Corral"