Social Media and Homeowners Insurance: Are Your Facebook Posts Covered?

Clayton N. Matheson cmatheson@akingump.com

Akin Gump

The Rapid Rise of Social Media

2005		2015
7%	Adults in the U.S.	65%
12%	Young adults (18-29)	90%
8%	Adults 30-49	77%

Akin Gump
STRAUSS HAUER & FELD LLP

The Rapid Rise of Social Media

Facebook - 1.13 billion daily users

WeChat - 700 million

SnapChat - 150 million

Twitter - 136 million

The Rapid Rise of Social Media-Sparked Defamation Lawsuits

'My fashion designer is a drug dealer, thief, and prostitute!'

'James Woods is a cocaine addict!'

The Rapid Rise of Social Media-Sparked Defamation Lawsuits

You could get sued for defamation if you:

- Write a negative Yelp review about your former attorney
- Accuse your neighbor online of trying to spy on your family
- Post pictures of your kids on Facebook

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary (utcle.org/elibrary)

Title search: Social Media and Homeowners Insurance: Are Your Facebook Posts Covered?

Also available as part of the eCourse Insurance Law: Product Recalls, Social Media, Hail, Construction Claims, and Corporate Transactions

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 21st Annual Insurance Law Institute session
"Social Media and Homeowners Insurance: Are Your Facebook Posts Covered?"