

Cybersecurity for Oil & Gas Attorneys: Understanding the Ethical and Legal Obligations

Will R. Daugherty, Baker Hostetler
Andy Sawyer, Locke Lord

BakerHostetler

LockeLord

Summary of the Topics to Discuss

- Overview of the Threat Landscape and How Law Firms and Attorneys Are Being Targeted
- Attorneys' Ethical and Legal Obligations to Protect Client Data
- Recommendations on How to Protect Client Data

BakerHostetler

LockeLord

Where are the threats?

Internal Threats

- Employee Negligence
 - Security failures
 - Lost mobile devices
- Employee Ignorance
 - Improper disposal of information
 - Lack of education and awareness
- Malicious Employees

BakerHostetler

LockeLord

Where are the threats?

External Threats

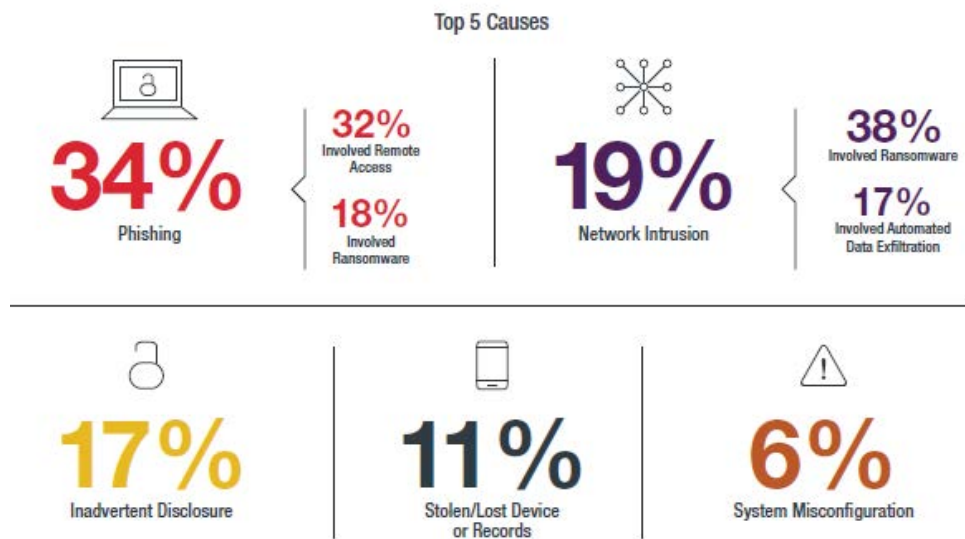

- State-Sponsored
- Organized Crime
- Cyber-Espionage
- “Hacktivists”
- Script-kiddies
- Vendors

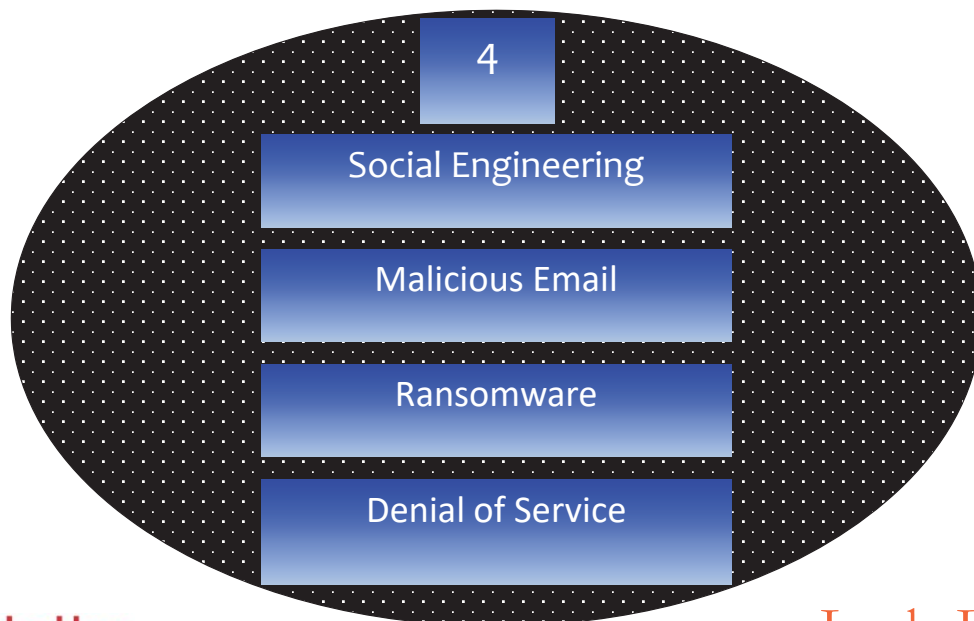

BakerHostetler

LockeLord

Causes of Data Security Incidents Across All Industries

The Biggest Threats of 2018

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Cybersecurity for Oil & Gas Attorneys: Understanding the Ethical and Legal Obligations

Also available as part of the eCourse

Answer Bar: Global Data Security Considerations for the Corporate Client

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 44th Annual Ernest E. Smith Oil, Gas and Mineral Law Institute session
"Protecting Client Information-Cyber Protection Duties as an Attorney"