REMOTE WORKING ENVIRONMENT

Workforce Has Been Reshaped, Forever?

Remote Recruiting & Hiring Considerations

BAKER BOTTS

- Make job expectations clear
 - Remote
 - Temporarily remote
 - In office
- Limit number of interviewees
- Consider using these options and developing a best practices guide for:
 - Virtual interviews
 - Remote employees
 - Virtual job fairs
 - Virtual recruiting events

Remote Recruiting & Hiring Considerations

- In using interview platforms, make sure to consider:
 - Mobile device access so that interviewee does not have to have anything other than a phone
 - Reminders and tutorials for interviewees and employees
- For federal contractors, are you collecting the data needed for applicant flow log?
