

“Oh, What a Tangled Web We Weave”

Commissioner Jurisdiction after Davis; With a Little DOI and Charter Thrown In

The University of Texas School of Law – 37th Annual School Law Conference

Paul Tapp – Attorney at Law

Association of Texas Professional Educators

ptapp@atpe.org

atpe.org

© 2020 Association of Texas Professional Educators

WARNING

THIS WILL GET WONKY

atpe.org

© 2020 Association of Texas Professional Educators

DAVIS v. MORATH

Why should you care?

- Texas Supreme Court opinion
- Major change in when a school district and the Commissioner of Education can dismiss a grievance as untimely

DAVIS v. MORATH

Setting the Scene: Pt 1

- May 2014: Dallas ISD adopts local teacher appraisal – the TEI.
- TEI includes student test score data – not available until after end of school year – final rating or “scorecard” not shared with teacher until Fall of NEXT school year.
- Scorecard rating directly affects teacher compensation.

DAVIS v. MORATH

Setting the Scene: Pt 2

- District provides TEI guidebook in May 2014.
- District conducts teacher training in TEI in August 2014.
- Both training and guidebook note that teachers will not receive scorecards until the Fall of the next school year.

DAVIS v. MORATH

Setting the Scene: Pt 3

- Teachers receive their scores for 2014-15 school year in September 2015.
- Teachers file grievance; claim that TEI violates Texas Education Code, including district not providing scores until subsequent school year.
- District administration and board dismisses grievance as untimely; and teachers appeal under §7.057.

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: “Oh, What a Tangled Web We Weave”: Commissioner Jurisdiction after Davis, With a Little DOI and Charter Thrown In

Also available as part of the eCourse

2022 School Law eConference

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 37th Annual School Law Conference session

““Oh, What a Tangled Web We Weave”: Commissioner Jurisdiction after Davis, With a Little DOI and Charter Thrown In”