

Too Much Water: How Water Shapes Urban Land Use

Presented to the UTCLE 27th Annual Land Use
Conference
April 21, 2023

By Jim Blackburn
Co-Director, SSPEED Center, Rice U
blackbur@rice.edu

Topics To Be Covered Today

Climate Change Will Transform the System

Negligence, Flooding and Chemicals

Engineering Malpractice

Inverse Condemnation/Takings Law

Legal Malpractice

Equity In Flooding Decision-Making

Climate Change Will Be A Huge Challenge To The Legal Pro

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Too Much Water: How Water Shapes Urban Land Use

Also available as part of the eCourse

Too Little or Too Much? Water Supply Considerations and How Water Shapes Urban Land Use

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 27th Annual Land Use Conference session

"Too Much Water: How Water Shapes Urban Land Use"