The image shows a screenshot of two news articles. The top article is from Fast Company, dated 08-10-21, with the headline "Robots are coming for the lawyers" and a sub-headline "Bad for lawyers' salaries, good for people who need cheap legal help." Below the headline is a section titled "THE CONVERSATION" with a sub-headline "Academic rigour, journalistic fair" and a search bar. The main image for this article shows a person's hand writing on a document next to a robotic hand. Below the image is a text box that reads: "Robots are coming for the lawyers - which may be bad for tomorrow's attorneys but great for anyone in need of cheap legal assistance". The bottom article is from Forbes, dated August 9, 2017, with the headline "Will A.I. Put Lawyers Out Of Business?".

YOU WON'T BE REPLACED BY A ROBOT

- But you'd better learn how to use one.
 - Cf. Mata v. Avianca, Inc., Case No. 22-cv-1461 (PKC) (S.D.N.Y).

WHAT IS ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI)?

- What is AI? There are many ways to answer this question, but one place to begin is to consider the types of problems that AI technology is often used to address. In that spirit, we might describe AI as using technology to automate tasks that “normally require human intelligence.” This description of AI emphasizes that the technology is often focused upon automating specific types of tasks: those that are thought to involve intelligence when people perform them.

AI AND "HALLUCINATIONS"

- Again:

The ChatGPT Lawyer Explains Himself

In a cringe-inducing court hearing, a lawyer who relied on A.I. to craft a motion full of made-up case law said he "did not comprehend" that the chat bot could lead him astray.
