

Structuring for Efficiency (Compliantly)

Sharing, Services, Self-Dealing, and Co-Investing the Family Office/LLC Context

© 2023 Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP

1

Panel

Christy E. Brook, Emerson Collective

Lisa Montez, Builders Vision

Moderated by: Allison Heimann, Associate, Morgan, Lewis & Bockius, LLP

2

2

1

Agenda

- Driving Principles
- Structures of Emerson Collective and Builders Vision
- Overview of Applicable Law
 - Private Foundation Rules and Compliance
 - Focus on Self-Dealing
 - Focus on Excess Business Holdings
- Legal Structure and Governance
- Employee and Staff Issues
- Sharing Resources across entities
- IRC 4960
- Shared Services
- Co-Investment

3

3

Driving Principles

- Structuring and administering a multi-entity philanthropic ecosystem is a balance of various driving principles that are specific to each organization
- What matters to your organization and its leadership? What social and practical issues are you solving for? What are your main principles and pain points?
 - Tax-efficiency
 - Flexibility
 - Time and administrative burdens, including legal compliance
 - Culture, brand, and reputation
 - Privacy/anonymity versus transparency/disclosure
- Think of these considerations as levers that adjust automatically—more of one generally means less of another

4

4

Builders Vision Structure

5

5

Builders Initiative Funding Sources

6

6

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Structuring for Efficiency (Compliantly): Sharing, Services, Self-Dealing, and Co-Investing in the Family Office/LLC Context

Also available as part of the eCourse

Philanthropy Structures and Family Offices

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 41st Annual Nonprofit Organizations Institute session

"Structuring for Efficiency (Compliantly): Sharing, Services, Self-Dealing, and Co-Investing in the Family Office/LLC Context"