Income Subject to HI Tax

- Employees and self-employed persons are subject to tax (Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) or Self-Employment Contributions Act (SECA)). The FICA tax was initially limited to an Old-Age Survivors and Disability (OASDI) tax on wages up to the contribution and benefits base (the "Benefit Base") starting in 1935. Pub. L. 74-271. The SECA tax was an initially limited to and OASDI tax on NESE up to the Benefit Base starting in 1950. to and Hospital Insurance tax (HI). The OASDI portion of FICA and SET is collected as a percentage of compensation paid by an employer to an employee (wages) or net earnings from self-employment (NESE) up to the contribution and benefits base (the Benefit Base). From 1966 to 1990, HI taxes were limited to the Benefits Base. The Benefit Base for HI tax was $125,000, $130,200, and $135,000 for 1991-1993, respectively. After 1993, there has been no limitation on HI-tax. P.L. 101-508 §11331. The following chart also shows the increase in the HI tax starting in 2013 as a result of the Affordable Care Act (all of which is collected from the employee).
- Wages includes "all remuneration for employment, including the cash value of all remuneration (including benefits) paid in any medium other than cash" with certain exclusions. IRC §3121(a).
- NESE is "gross income derived by an individual from any trade or business carried on by such individual, less the deductions allowed by this subtitle which are attributable to such trade or business, plus his distributive share (whether or not distributed) of income or loss described in section 702(a)(8) from any trade or business carried on by a partnership of which he is a member" with certain exclusions. IRC §1402(b).

I.R.C. §1402(a)(13) (1977)

The term "net earnings from self-employment" means . . . his distributive share (whether or not distributed) of income or loss described in section 702(a)(8) from any trade or business carried on by a partnership of which he is a member; except that in computing such gross income and deductions and such distributive share of partnership ordinary income or loss—

... there shall be excluded the distributive share of any item of income or loss of a limited partner, as such, other than guaranteed payments described in section 707(c) to that partner for services actually rendered to or on behalf of the partnership to the extent that those payments are established to be in the nature of remuneration for those services;"
