OVERVIEW OF SECURITIES LAWS

Overview of Securities Laws

- Federal securities laws:
 - Securities Act of 1933 - the "Securities Act"
 - Securities Exchange Act of 1934 - the "Exchange Act"
- Any offer or sale of securities is covered by the Securities Act
 - Either need to register the sale of securities under the Securities Act, or qualify for an exemption from registration
- U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulates securities offerings

What is a security?

- Section 2(a)(1) of Securities Act of 1933:
 - The term "security" means any note, stock, treasury stock, security future, security-based swap, bond, debenture, evidence of indebtedness, certificate of interest or participation in any profit-sharing agreement, collateral-trust certificate, preorganization certificate or subscription, transferable share, investment contract, voting-trust certificate, certificate of deposit for a security, fractional undivided interest in oil, gas, or other mineral rights, any put, call, straddle, option, or privilege on any security, certificate of deposit, or group or index of securities (including any interest therein or based on the value thereof), or any put, call, straddle, option, or privilege entered into on a national securities exchange relating to foreign currency, or, in general, any interest or instrument commonly known as a "security", or any certificate of interest or participation in, temporary or interim certificate for, receipt for, guarantee of, or warrant or right to subscribe to or purchase, any of the foregoing.
