

Divided Infringement

Brian C. Nash

UT CLE's 23rd Advanced Patent Law Institute

November 2, 2018

Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman LLP

Overview

- Divided infringement – the what and why
- The Akamai test
- Eli Lilly
- Travel Sentry
- Top 8 takeaways

Background: What and Why

- Direct infringement involving multiple actors
 - “Divided infringement is where a single act of direct patent infringement occurs through the combined action of two [or more] separate parties.”

RealSource, Inc. v. Best Buy Co., 514 F. Supp. 2d 951 (W.D. Tex. 2007).
- Method claims, system claims

Background: What and Why

- Technology increasingly involves multi-party interaction & cooperation
 - APIs
 - IoT
 - Blockchain
 - AI
 - Medical diagnostics & treatments
- Often no formal or direct relationships

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Divided Infringement

Also available as part of the eCourse

2018 Advanced Patent Law \(Austin\) eConference

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 23rd Annual Advanced Patent Law Institute session

"Divided Infringement"