

OVERCOMING THE CHALLENGES OF REMOTE LEARNING

PRESENTED BY:

COLLEEN M. ELBE
SUPERVISING ATTORNEY
DISABILITY RIGHTS TEXAS
LUBBOCK, TX
CElBE@DRTX.ORG
806.370.1445

PAM KAMINSKY
OF COUNSEL
ROGERS, MORRIS & GROVER LLP
HOUSTON, TX
PKAMINSKY@RMGLLP.COM
713.960.6006

1

WE HAVE ALL SEEN THE HEADLINES...

Distance Learning is a 'Nightmare' for Many Special Needs Kids. These Businesses Are Creating Tools to Help.

The loss of in-person special education has been devastating for many families who are trying to keep their kids' progress from stalling or regressing. Fortunately, education entrepreneurs are rising up to offer a bit of relief.

by [author] | [date]

Share | [social icons]

DISABILITY RIGHTS TEXAS

virtual school is failing today's students with special needs. It would have failed me.

by KEVIN M. GAUMELIN, MD, PRESIDENT AND CO-FOUNDER OF THE STREET INITIATIVE

[image of a person using a laptop]

...to ensure their families could rise from poverty and live better lives.

Distance learning threatens to leave students with special needs behind

Schools and students with disabilities likely to struggle with special ed at a distance

by [author] | [date]

[image of a person using a laptop]

Special education students lost crucial help when the pandemic hit. Texas schools are still struggling

Ten percent of Texas public school students need special education services, but schools are struggling to provide them during the pandemic.

by [author] | [date]

[image of a person using a laptop]

Parents Of Special Education Students File Lawsuits Over Poor Remote Education

One Central Texas superintendent estimated that up to 1,000 students in his district struggled to access virtual learning, and now parents are not likely to arrive before October in South Texas.

students share computers, phones and spotty internet with siblings.

by [author] | [date]

[image of a person using a laptop]

As the school year begins online, thousands of Texas students are being left out of virtual learning

One Central Texas superintendent estimated that up to 1,000 students in his district struggled to access virtual learning, and now parents are not likely to arrive before October in South Texas.

students share computers, phones and spotty internet with siblings.

by [author] | [date]

[image of a person using a laptop]

2

ACCORDING TO THE UNITED STATES CENSUS BUREAU, NEARLY 93% OF STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN SOME FORM OF DISTANCE LEARNING DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC.

See, <https://www.census.gov/library/stories/2020/08/schooling-during-the-covid-19-pandemic.html>

THE DIGITAL DIVIDE AND ITS IMPACT ON IEP IMPLEMENTATION AND PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT

DISTRICT CONCERNS

Accessibility and distribution of devices

- Distribution of devices
- Implementing accommodations
- Lack of parent literacy skills

5

DISTRICT CONCERNS

- Communication issues with parents
- Failing grades
- Cheating/Test Security

6

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Overcoming the Challenges of Remote Learning

Also available as part of the eCourse

2021 School Law eConference

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 36th Annual School Law Conference session

"Overcoming the Challenges of Remote Learning"