

GLOBALIZATION OF PATENT LAW

Nick Schuneman
McDermott Will & Emery
Nschuneman@mwe.com

Natalie Alfaro Gonzales
Yetter Coleman LLP
ngonzales@yettercoleman.com

November 6-7, 2024

1

INTRODUCTION

2

2

INTRODUCTION

3

3

OVERVIEW

- Extraterritorial Damages for Infringement of a US Patent
- The Rise of European Venues
- Global Fair, Reasonable, and Non-Discriminatory (FRAND) Rate Determinations for Standard-Essential Patents (SEPs)

4

4

DISCLAIMER

These materials are public information and based on publicly available resources and have been prepared solely for educational and discussion purposes to contribute to the understanding of U.S. intellectual property law and practice. These materials reflect only the personal views of the speakers, and not their respective firms or clients, and are not legal advice. The presentation of these materials does not establish any form of attorney-client relationship with the firms or the speakers, or any combination thereof. While every attempt was made to ensure that these materials are accurate, errors or omissions may be contained therein.

EXTRATERRITORIAL DAMAGES FOR US PATENT INFRINGEMENT

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Globalization of Patent Law

Also available as part of the eCourse

2024 Advanced Patent Law \(Austin\) eConference

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the

29th Annual Advanced Patent Law Institute session

"Globalization of Patent Law"