Brexit: Where Are We Now and Where Do We Go From Here? Key Considerations for International Business Lawyers

Brexit, the departure of the UK from the European Union, is of huge significance legally, economically and politically. While the UK left the EU on January 31, 2020, the two sides are still negotiating how they will interact after the current "transition" period ends on December 31, 2020. Join Vincent Powers as he explores how Brexit will impact clients of US attorneys and give an up to the minute account of what could be the implications. It will enable external and internal counsel to advise businesses on the implications.
